Dear Members,

We would like to inform you that International Chamber of Commerce (ICC) will be running a series of three free online workshops .

To coincide with the launch of ICC's new Model Contracts for Start-ups, ICC brought together some of the world's leading commercial lawyers as well as founders of successful start-ups who will explain to the participants why using badly drafted contracts can make or break their business.

This series of workshops is aimed at small business owners, start-ups, legal advisors to start-ups, and anyone who would gain from learning about making the right contract choices.

The contract templates featured are easy to use and include provisions that are modifiable wherever a business is located in the world.

The participants will learn why formal agreements are essential to any start-up or small business and how to use ICC's Model Contracts for Start-ups to help them safely get their business venture off the ground.
